BEACON HILL PARK.

The Great Natural Beauties of the Place to be Enhanced by Art.

What is Being Accomplished—Drives, Walks, Lakes and Flowers.

A wide diversity of opinion exists as to which are the most beautiful, the works of nature or the works of art. It has never seemed to the writer that the subject was one which admitted of debate. The landscape of the painter is beautiful. We say, how startlingly perfect! Nature reproduced! But something is wanting. What? The blinking leaves, the sunlight, the roar of the blast, animation. Perhaps the last word covers the whole ground, animation. The statue may be beautiful, idealise the original; but after all it is only cold marble. Our admiration is derived chiefly from the contemplation of the skill of the sculptor. But the secret of the beauty of nature outside of the fact that it lives, is in diversity. Nature is uniform, but her variations simply defy enumeration. There may be persons who love a particular rock, glen, tree, valley or mountain, river or rivulet, but does not confine his admiration to these isolated instances. He prefers to see nature in the aggregate, and hence in the formation of parks the central idea is to present nature in all her variated and multifarious forms. In this respect Beacon Hill Park offers superior advantages. Nature has indeed done considerable for Beacon Hill in the way of a marine view and a glimpse of snow clad mountains, but in so far as embodying within its compass any great diversity of landscape, nature has provided as prodigally for any other 250 acres on Vancouver Island. Last fall the Park in the vicinity of Fountain Lake was a jungle and not a very picturesque one at that, while its back ground, Marvin Hill, was a picture of arid desolation. All there was to recommend Beacon Hill Park last fall was the marine prospect it afforded and the drive. It was a park simply because it was the only point contiguous to Victoria where people could rendezvous and not be liable to trespass. Later an effort was made to invest the park with a scenic value peculiarly its own, to make the value local so to speak.

THE OLYMPIAN MOUNTAINS

were a fine sight, but it was desirable to possess picturesque features closer home. The jungle accordingly was cleared of brush, the pruning knife put to work and the trees trimmed. Unsightly stumps were cleared away, rustic benches and bridges were constructed, and an artificial lake and a small zoo were added to the attractions. Thus far, however, comparatively speaking, only the first sod had been turned. Outside of the immediate vicinity of Fountain Lake, the park was literally as nature left it, deformed by barren rock, uncouth, presenting a monotonous similarity. The next question, therefore, was how to combine within the compass of the park the diversity of scene which characterizes nature, and at the same time keep in harmony with the surroundings. A park without variety was not a park, but a field merely; the attractions were soon exhausted, the eye tired of a sight where nature was neither at her worst nor at her best. The next step consequently was to supply artificially what nature had failed to furnish. The skilled experience of Mr. Blair was secured, and a plan elaborated which combined the works of nature in all her multifarious forms. The first step toward this consummation was another artificial lake, with the necessary

DRIVE WAYS AND FOOT PATHS.

We regard the idea of the lake as eminently in consonance with the topography of the surroundings, and inasmuch as the debris furnished by the excavation would serve to furnish soil where soil was needed for shrubs and tree planting, the forming of the lake had its practical advantages. When Victoria lake, as the lake will be called, shall have been completed, a body of water three and a half acres in extent will intervene between the grove and Merrio's Hill. Singularly appropriate is this lake in the depression between the hill and the grove, a reproduction in miniature of the scenery which is the striking characteristic of Vancouver Island. When Marvin's Hill shall have been studded with shrubbery and trees, it would be difficult to conceive of a scene more picturesque. Passing on to the other features of the park as laid down in the diagram, we discover it to be the intention of Mr. Blair to form another lake on the northern boundary of the park. This will be

and its area will be about five acres. This lake will lie parallel to Cook street, and will be in plain view of the present entrance to the park by Park avenue. The lake, however, will be more directly approached by an avenue not yet named (presumably Haywood avenue, as that gentleman proposes to embellish it with trees) which will intersect with Walnut avenue (the trees to be furnished by Mr. Heywood also) which latter avenue will intersect with the driveway around the lake. It is hardly necessary for us to interject that foot paths will run parallel with the avenues just mentioned, as it will be observed that the park from the north as well as from the south side will be approached by ways as convenient to pedestrians as to vehicles. This lake in the midst of the tall trees which distinguish the eastern side of the park, will prove a most attractive feature. Skiffs will be allowed to ply on it, and aquatic-minded people will here most resort. Nor need people who are timid of water in a larger volume than affords 1 by the bath-tub be at all shy of a sail on its placid waters. The lake will not be deep. The young man who capsizes with his fair Dulcina can take her in his strong arms and wade to land. Just around Beacon Hill proper, and about midway between Fountain and Douglas lakes, Lily pond will be situated, while in a direct line from here, almost due north, the visitor will discover the terrace and the conservatory. We have now passed in review the salient features of the park, all of which will be approached by drives and foot paths. As to the drive to the summit of Beacon Hill, we regard this desirable from two points of view. First, because it is desirable that drives as well as foot paths should attain the highest eminence afforded by the park, and secondly, by having a roadway teams will necessarily follow it, and thus in nowise interfere with pedestrians who occupy the hillside. As the park is at present, except in the vicinity of Fountain lake, teams may drive over it promiscuously. When the roadways are completed teams must necessarily confine themselves to them, and children and pedestrians will really have more space, which they can call their own, than under the old conditions. The

in respect to the quiet privileges of visitors, and all that sort of thing, is particularly stupid. The works of improvement now going on necessarily give rise to the idea that there are more roads and foot paths being built than is necessary. It will be discovered, however, so soon as the work is completed, that such is not the case. There will be plenty of room for pedestrians, and the park at the same time will be attractive as a drive. It is just as well for those who are finical to bear in mind that Beacon Hill Park covers an area of 250 acres, and that it is scarcely probable that so much of this will be occupied by drives as to cause pedestrians any inconvenience. Besides, it must be borne in mind that a park without commodious drives would be an anomaly. In fact, whoever heard of a park without drives. The idea of a park is to make it available for every variety of locomotion, whether riding or walking. As for the dust supposed to be raised by passing vehicles, that is the bugbear of a moseback. When the park is completed dust will be unknown. The climate of this locality is not favorable to dust in the first place, and in the second place during dry weather, the drive ways and paths should be sprinkled anyhow. And this brings us to another phase of the matter, over which the morning paper and its correspondents show some signs of getting hysterical. We allude to

THE CUTTING DOWN OF THE TREES.

No trees thus far have been cut down except those which were dead and unsightly. But, by what authority does the Colonist protest against the "uprooting" of trees? Who is the doctor in this case? Who is most competent to prescribe in the matter of trees? Shall he with whom quill driving is a specialty presume to say to the man who has made landscape gardening a life-long study what trees shall be spared and what shall not? As a matter of fact, the trees are too thick in many places in the park and are dying in consequence. Furthermore, strictly speaking, this is not a sunshiny country, or allowing that it is, the sun's rays are seldom uncomfortably warm. It is notorious that in the vicinity of Fountain Lake the shade is so dense as to be positively chilly on the warmest days. People who visit Beacon Hill Park go there for air and sunshine, not for dampness and chill. However, no more trees will be uprooted than is absolutely necessary to preserve its site.

PROMOTE HEALTHY GROWTH.

Again, with reference to Supt. Blair. He is a man of almost national reputation as a landscape gardener. The Messrs. Meehan, of Germantown, Penn., write: "May we make a suggestion. You have among you a man whom we believe is perfectly competent to take charge of the park and who would take pride in the work. We refer to Mr. John Blair, who has had considerable experience in Illinois," etc. Besides this testimonial of professional capacity, Mr. Blair carries a souvenir of the period when he was employed by the city of Chicago in the laying out of Lincoln Park, of that metropolis, and where they never do things by halves. We have then in Mr. Blair a man who transcends criticism in respect to amateurs, mossbacks, and cranks. No man has a right to pass criticism on his work who has not had the advantage of experience in his (Mr. Blair's) line of work. It is not necessary for us, however, to enter upon a specific

VINDICATION OF MR. BLAIR.

To sum up, let every Victorian fervently hope that the park commissioners will not be induced to materially change the plan of the park as laid down in the diagram on account of carping criticism, journalistic or individual. The completion of the park according to the plans of Mr. Blair, is a consummation devoutly to be wished. The plans carried out in their entirety, Victoria will have a park second to none on the coast, and equalled by none in Canada. Beacon Hill in its natural stage is attractive but in the language of the Messrs. Meehan's it is susceptible of further improvement. Two years hence the present plans carried out, the park will present a marvel of landscape, admirably adapted to meet the wants of people whether from an æsthetic or practical point of view. The park commissioners are to be congratulated for their enterprise, Mr. Heywood for his liberality and Mr. Blair for the artistic ability he has displayed in utilizing the natural but crude features of nature to produce effects at once novel and picturesque.

THE TOURNAMENT.

Excitement Runs High and Ill-Feeling Crops Out.

Special to THE TIMES.]

Tacoma, Sept. 18.—Excitement runs high to-day and a misunderstanding over a trivial affair took place between a police officer and a member of the Astoria team. The captain of the Astoria team for a slight cause struck a young man named August Murray over the head with a mole. But these incidents are drowned in the excitement.

THE DRY TEST RACE.

The dry test race was run in the afternoon under the following conditions: Distance, 600 feet in all, 400 feet to hydrant, make tight coupling, lay 200 feet of hose, break tight coupling, screw on pipe fail three threads; cart to carry not less than 250 feet of hose; time to be taken when the pipe is on. First prize, $400; 2d, $200; 3d, $100. The running was done in the following order and with the following results: Corvallis, 36 2-5; Nanaimo, B. C., 38 1-5; Tacoma, No. 2, 34 2-5; Union, No. 1, Tacoma, 37 9-10; Walla Walla, no time; Seattle, no time; East Portland, 32 4-5; Victoria, B. C., 33 1-5; New Westminster, 34 2-5; Vancouver, 29 9-10; Astoria, 31 4-5; Old Town Tacoma, no time. As in the first race there is a dispute over the time of Astoria, and the decision of the judges has been appealed to the board of directors, and the awarding of prizes withheld. Vancouver, 1st; Astoria, Oregon, Victoria, 2nd; Tacoma, No. 2, and New Westminster, tie for third. Those who got no time were barred for following reasons: Walla Walla did not have the nozzle on the hose when attached to the hydrant. Seattle could not break the tight coupling owing to some fault of the same, and Old Tacoma for the same reason as Walla Walla.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

The Usual Weekly Grist of Routine Business Transacted.

At the regular meeting of the city council Wednesday night there were present His Worship Mayor Grant and Aldermen Vigelius, Wilson, Kelly, Goodacre, Harrison, McKillican and Coughlan.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From F. G. Richards, Jr., on behalf of the Victoria District Telegraph Co., asking for a conference with the council.

A special meeting was ordered for Monday evening, 23rd inst., to discuss matters pertaining to the company.

From Drake, Jackson & Helmcken, directing attention to the fact that nothing had been done to the drain on Humboldt street.

Ald. Harrison said that the council had no right to put in the drain, and in view of the sewer going through there he did not see how it could be done except at great expense.

Ald. Vigelius thought that Ald. Harrison labored under a mistake, and he would move that the communication be referred to the street committee with power to act. Carried.

From Drake, Jackson & Helmcken, on behalf of Mrs. McTavish, acknowledging a previous communication of the council, and asking that an arbitrator be appointed to assess damage done by the corporation to her land, fence, etc.

Ald. McKillican thought the council should act with discretion in this matter; it appeared like a trap, and the council would have to act in a decisive manner in order to prevent a multiplication of similar claims.

Mayor Grant thought the complainant could go into court and compel the council to appoint an arbitrator and that would be attended with considerable expense.

Ald. Harrison thought that no damage had been done to the property, and to appoint an arbitrator would be to admit that damage had been done.

Ald. Coughlan read section 193 of the by-law, showing that it made provision for the appointment of an arbitrator in such cases. He did not think that the street committee had entered on or injured Mrs. McTavish's property, and he would favor taking no action in the matter.

His Worship pointed out that section 93 might be construed against the council. The street committee had exercised its power to cut down an embankment near this property and it was possible that an encroachment of even an inch or two might have been made on the property. The council had better appoint their own arbitrator than have three appointed by the court.

Ald. Vigelius said the street committee were satisfied that no encroachment had been made in this or any other property and it was a dangerous precedent to appoint an arbitrator.

After some cross firing from a number of the aldermen, in which the majority favored paying no attention to the matter complained of, the communication was filed.

From C. S. Sharp, asking that water service be furnished Hill street, Work Estate. Referred to the water committee.

From Gilmore & McCandless, complaining that the Johnson street sewer was not completed, although the street had been blocked for three months; and stating that their business had been injured and that they would take legal steps to obtain redress at once.

Ald. Coughlan thought that it was time the council took some steps in this matter. There were a great many holes in the street, and he thought that if the contract had been completed in a reasonable time the people on that street would not have complained. He thought that there ought to be some person in the employ of the corporation who could throw some light on the vexed matter. He would ask the city engineer if he had a copy of the contract.

Ald. Kelly said that the sewerage committee were the proper parties to look after this. Messrs. Gilmore & McCandless were not the only parties complaining, and there would be suits for damages arising out of the non-completion of the work.

City Engineer Leech said that the contract required that the work be completed in five months. The contractor could open up 600 feet of the street at a time, but there was nothing to specify when he should close it.

Ald. Coughlan said, for the present it would appear that the city was at the mercy of the contractor, but in the meantime it would be well to look up the matter and see if there were not other means that could be taken to compel the contractor to remedy the existing state of things.

Ald. McKillican remarked that the present condition of Johnson street, where the sewer was being constructed, was disgraceful, and he thought the communication should be laid on the table and discussed at the special meeting on Monday evening.

On motion the communication was laid on the table.

From H. C. Clark asking for water from the city for the purpose of extinguishing a coal fire. Referred to the water committee.

From P. E. Irving, Adjutant B. C. B. G. A., requesting the attendance of the Mayor and council at the annual artillery competition at Esquimalt Point, on Friday next. The invitation was accepted with thanks.

From W. M. Chudley, asking that the finance committee of the council report as to the grant of $1,000 made by the council to the Provincial Royal Jubilee Hospital, and also asking that the amount be paid into the Bank of British Columbia not later than Wednesday next.

Ald. Coughlan said that the hospital committee had engaged to give the city a portion of the land near the hospital for street purposes. This had not been done.

His Worship said the hospital trustees had not the power to give the land to any person or corporation. It would be sold to the highest bidder. He thought the city should have some outlet in that vicinity.

Ald. McKillican moved that Mr. Chudley be notified that, if the hospital trustees would sell a strip of land 20 feet wide along the north side of the hospital property and running the entire length of such property, the city would pay $1000 for it. Carried.

From Edward Mallandaine protesting against the "improvements" now being made, at Beacon Hill Park, and suggesting that the work be suspended until a deputation of prominent citizens could meet the council and discuss all matters belonging to or in anyway appertaining to the beautifying of the Park. Referred.

THE AUDITOR'S REPORT.

From Jas. L. Raymur city auditor enclosing financial statement for the quarter ending Aug. 31st. Received and filed.

A NEW STREET.

From Hon. John Robson Provincial Secretary stating that the school trustees have no objection to the city opening a new street across the school reserve, provided that the corporation undertake all fencing and protect the grounds by gates. The government would undertake the necessary legislation to provide for such improvements.

Ald. Coughlan and McKillican thought the work should be begun as soon as possible, and without having to wait for legislation.

The clerk was requested to inform Hon. Mr. Robson that the conditions of the government would be complied with.

PETITIONS.

From a number of property owners of Spring Ridge pointing out the necessity of completing North street to Chambers street and asking for the removal of the city pound as it covered the street. Received and referred to the street committee and the city surveyor to report.

From Tye Soong and 12 others complaining of the action of the city surveyor in removing planks over the drain on Cormorant street, thereby hindering traffic.

Ald Harrison said the removal of the planks was absolutely necessary. The drain had been flushed and the planks replaced. A box drain should be placed there.

His Worship thought, perhaps the petitioners objected to the removal of the filth. Referred to the sanitary committee.

TENDERS.

Tenders for rock blasting on Yates street were read from the following persons: Geo Lyle, $2.45½ cts. per yard; George McDonald, $2 per yard; John Haggerty, $2 per yard.

As no check accompanied Mr. Haggerty's tender as required, the contract was awarded to George McDonald.

Ald. McKillican suggested that a limit of six weeks be made for the completion of the work.

His Worship said that in future it would be well to place a time limit in all contracts of this kind.

For the culvert in Second street, Elford & Smith's tender was accepted as Mr. Humber's tender lacked the necessary accompaniment—a certified check.

Ald. McKillican moved that the city barrister be requested to prepare a clause empowering the corporation to take over the work of any contractor and complete it at his expense, provided it should be found necessary in any case. The motion carried.

STREET COMMITTEE'S REPORT.

The street committee recommended that tenders be called for blasting rock on Ontario street; the gravelling of Third street and improvements on Michigan street, and that a box drain be laid from Cormorant to Store street.

His Worship thought that the street committee persistently forgot Fort street and in the report he heard nothing of Yates street.

Ald. Vigelius said Fort street would soon be torn up by the Tramway Co., and it had not been forgotten. Report adopted.

Ald Kelly enquired what progress had been made on the sewerage by-law.

Ald. Coughlan said he understood that some new arrangement had been made with Mr. Pickering in regard to his claim of five per cent. on the construction price of the sewerage system, before the minutes of the special meeting had been confirmed. He would like to enquire as to the legality of such action.

His Worship thought that the action was legal and the object of giving notice was simply that every one could appear to or demur from the matter proposed. Ample notice had been given and the matter had been before the council for a long time.

Ald. Wilson enquired, what had been done about the electric tramway poles. The poles were not peeled and were not square to the telephone poles.

Ald. Coughlan said the poles would be painted as soon as they were erected. They could not be painted before.

His Worship referred to the proposed visit of Lord Stanley and asked the members of the council to meet him at the City Hall, at 4 o'clock to day to take action.

Ald. Coughlan asked that the vote on the adoption of the sewerage committee's report at the special meeting held for that purpose, be recorded on the minutes as it stood at that time. Ald. Harrison had stated that he would vote for the adoption of the report of Mr. Pickering if certain concessions were made and he had not done so.

Ald. Harrison said that he did not vote for or against the report at the time, but he would do so now both in the council and out of it.

Council adjourned at 10 o'clock.

The fight took place just over the Hamilton county line and was attended by about 200 sports. In the tenth round Bosworth was knocked out by Upman.

NINE DROWNED.

Cleveland, O., Sept 19.—The body of another of the missing yacht Leo's victims was discovered on the lake shore, a short distance west of the city this morning. It proved to be John Pilow, aged 21, of Lorraine. Pilow's clothes are badly burned which gave conclusive evidence that the Leo was blown up. No doubt every one of the nine men on the yacht are lost.

WARSHIP GOES TO THE SCENE.

Washington, Sept. 19.—A cablegram from the consul at Kingston, Jamaica, states that a riot occurred at Navisa, the guano island, owned by General Benj. F. Butler and an American company, and several Americans were killed. The warship Galena has been ordered to the scene.

RAILROAD BOUGHT IN.

Cincinnati, Sept. 19.—The Cincinnati, Washington & Baltimore railroad was sold at 11:30 to-day at the court house and was purchased for $5,000,000 by E. R. Bacon, representing the bondholders and stockholders in this country and England. The road was sold on a foreclosure mortgage.

A WOMAN'S SENTENCE.

Mays Landing, N. J., Sept. 19.—Mrs. Hamilton was found guilty and sentenced to two years' imprisonment to day.

THE EARTH TREMBLING

Ukiah, Cal., Sept. 19.—From Monday until Tuesday afternoon there were no less than a dozen sharp shocks of earthquake in the vicinity.

KILLED BY ACCIDENT.

Dunsmuir, Cal., Sept. 19.—One of a number of railroad employees accidentally discharged a revolver in a saloon here last night and L. Lake, an engineer, was shot and killed. He leaves a wife and two children in San Francisco.

A DEMOCRAT DEAD.

Providence, R. I., Sept. 19.—J. B. Barnaby, a member of the National Democratic committee, died at 4 o'clock this morning.

A KING ILL.

Lisbon, Sept. 19.—The king of Portugal is seriously ill and some fears are entertained as to the outcome.

DRY DOCK OPENED.

Portsmouth, Sept. 19.—The Simpson dry dock was formally opened this morning when the U. S. S. Yantic was successfully docked. The ceremony, which occurred at eleven o'clock, was witnessed by a large number of visitors from Baltimore, Washington, New York and Philadelphia, who arrived here this morning on the steamer Virginia. Following the docking of the Yantic, a banquet was held, at which speeches were made by J. Simpson of New York, Admiral Jouett of the U. S. Navy, Hon. John R. Thomas of Illinois, and others. The visitors will leave at 5:30 this evening on the Virginia to return home.

SPANISH PLUCK.

Madrid, Sept. 19.—The Spanish government has ordered its fleet of war vessels to proceed to Morocco to demand the release of the captain and four sailors and one passenger of the Spanish vessel captured off the coast of Morocco, and has also ordered 1500 men to be held in readiness to embark for Morocco at a moment's notice. Although this action has been taken, it is still hoped that the captives may be peacefully surrendered.

HE IS REMEMBERED.

O'Connor to be Presented with a Purse—Universities Federate.

Toronto, Sept. 19.—The friends of Wm. O'Connor met last evening and decided on giving a banquet and presenting a purse of money to the oarsman immediately on his return home. The sum of $255 was subscribed on the spot. O'Connor will be given a grand reception and a purse probably of nearly $1,000.

FEDERATION SETTLED.

In order to secure the removal of Victoria Methodist University from Cobourg to Toronto a quarter of a million dollars had to be subscribed. The first request of William Gooderham brings the total subscription up to $265,000 and the federation of the Methodist with the Provincial University is now settled.

THE THREE LINKS.

Sovereign Grand Lodge—Great Parade—Daughters of Rebekah.

Columbus, Sept 18.—The parade of the I. O. O. F. and Patriarchs Militant this afternoon was two and a half hours in passing, and the number of men in line exceeded 20,000, being divided into three divisions, with a large military array, among whom were the Montgomery, Ala., Grays, the Loyal Legion, and 200 Louisville and Toledo cadets. It was the greatest demonstration in number and eclat this order ever held in America. The only event to mar the day occurred about noon, when Grand Sire John G. Underwood met with a painful accident, and only escaped death by a miracle. He and his staff were riding along the street when the general's horse slipped and fell. He fell under his horse, and while in this position another horse, ridden by a member of the staff, struck him about the head with his foot. It was at first supposed his injuries were fatal; but though severely hurt he persisted in taking part in the parade, and to-night is on duty the same as ever.

To-night a military reception was given the general in the senate chamber, after which the ceremonies of the "Decoration of the Chivalry" took place at the city hall, followed by a grand ball in honor of Grand Sire Underwood and the Grand Lodge.

The Daughters of Rebekah to-day perfected a permanent organization. The following officers were chosen: President, Mrs. M. E. Rea of Missouri; vice-president, Loulas B. Hall of Indiana; secretary, Julia A. Burroughs of Massachusetts; treasurer, Mrs. C. A. Read of Kentucky; warden, Mrs. M. L. Fisher of Montana; conductor, Nettie Anton of Ohio; guardian, Miss Ercie Page of Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Elizabeth Merry of Michigan.

A CONTINENT TURNING OVER.

Unless, says the Examiner, something shall occur which no human agency can help or hinder to stay, the blind action of those stupendous subterranean forces whose stress and strain readjust the delimiting lines of continents and oceans, the entire Atlantic coast of the United States must continue to subside and remain subject to such assaults of the sea as has recently been exemplified in the last storm. In a flat country bordering on the sea for hundreds of miles south of New York, the subsidence of a few inches which is overcome by easy reclamations gives the the Storm King when really roused a desolating reach to places once inaccessible to his power. If the menace with which man has to reckon were a silent slow encroachment of still waters the situation would be vastly different. He would move as slowly backward as the waters forward, abandoning his positions successively, and hardly sensible of his retreat. But in this instance man does not note the changes which are going on. The subsidence has been too slight, and the water impelled by the storm king sweeps over the insignificant depressions of the earth, dealing destruction in their path. But though the changes are going on, they do not invite alarm. Slow subsidence is one thing and a rapid collapse another. So long as it is going to take years for the ocean to swallow up the Atlantic coast, ages in fact, real estate speculators will scarcely hedge on their investments. Besides, it is comforting to know that as the east coast subsides the west coast rises. There is no loss without some gain, and in view of this fact we may conclude that HORACE GREELY builded better than he knew when he said, "Go west, young man, go west."

A WORLD'S EXPOSITION.

The Paris exposition has been so successful that it has been decided to continue it beyond the time first decided upon for its closing. The end will not be seen until the last day of October. When Paris undertakes an affair of this kind it always manages to make it a success. Thousands of people have crossed the Atlantic to see Paris and its attractions, and the steamship companies have been busy transporting passengers.

They are talking of a World's Fair at New York. Would the French patronize this as largely as has been done by the people on this side of the water? It is doubtful. In the first place there is not the population to draw from, and secondly, there is not the wealth among the French to permit it. If there should be a World's fair held at New York it is the opinion of the Montreal Star that it should be determined upon by the various governments of Canada that this country should make a representation of her natural products and manufactures, of which none of the people attending the fair would be ashamed of. No such opportunity has yet occurred in the history of Canada for placing before the people of two hemispheres the proof of what this country possesses, in the way of natural resources, and what it can produce in the way of manufactured articles.

GERMANY AND RUSSIA.

If it be true, as stated in the cable dispatches, that the tension is increasing between Russia and Germany, that the Czar's treatment of the Emperor WILLIAM is being resented at Berlin, that the Reichstag is to be asked for an additional military credit of 60,000,000 marks, and that Germany's new sixteenth army corps is intended to be stationed on the Russian frontier, then Europe would appear to be on the verge of war. The Cologne Gazette thinks the first line of danger is not at Paris, but at St. Petersburg. Germany, so the Hamburg correspondence says, must accept the permanent hostility of the Czar. The Chancellor being convinced of the Czar's lasting enmity, will cease his cautious and delicate treatment of Russia, and henceforth treat St. Petersburg as he treats Paris. These papers are supposed to be inspired by the Iron Chancellor, and it is somewhat significant that the latter paper approves of the cordial relations of Russia and Great Britain. The semi-official German press is assailing the Czar with more than ordinary severity, and in the meantime BISMARCK is paying particular attention to the course of events in France, particularly in connection with the election campaign just opened.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Rev. E. D. HAMMOND three years ago became pastor of a Baptist church in Pittsburg. Since then he has very largely increased the membership of the church and has built a $25,000 edifice. But some of the members recently discovered that he was a smoker, and the discovery so impaired his usefulness that he has deemed it expedient to resign.

Speaking of London, Cardinal MANNING says: "There are four millions of living and dying and dead souls. And if every church or chapel or place of worship of every sort and kind were filled three times to the full on every Lord's Day, they could not contain more than 1,500,000. There must be, therefore, 2,500,000 who never can physically set their feet in any place of Divine worship or any place where the name and existence of God are recognised."

An "Adventist" of Massachusetts has, after careful computation and a diligent comparison of signs, decided that the day for which all other days were made will dawn on the 7th of next month. In other words, he says that sublunary things will come to an abrupt termination on that day, and he advises the faithful—the few who are elected to enjoy the delights of heaven—to get ready for the important event. It is comforting, in view of the short notice given, that there is not much "getting ready" necessary for such an occasion as no heirs will be left to quarrel over the wreck left by the general conflagration.

The successful raising of H. M. S. Sultan, says LABOUCHERE by some enterprising Italian speculators, is not calculated to increase our prestige in the Mediterranean, for it is descreditable to everyone concerned that the naval authorities should have been quite content to leave her at the bottom of the sea: and now we shall have to pay a reward of £50,000 for her recovery. To raise a ship of over 9,000 tons is a very serious operation, and the contractors deserve great credit for their cleverness and resources. Everything, so far as this country is concerned, has been thoroughly unsatisfactory about the Sultan from first to last. Whether the vessel will ever again be fit to join a fleet in another and a serious question. In the meantime it may be noted that, in addition to the £50,000 which has to be paid for raising her, she has cost the country nearly £800,000.

Those who claim to be authorities say that the sham naval war which has been raging for some time round the coasts of Britain has not been so interesting or suggestive as it was expected to be. It was thought that there would have been a series of stirring encounters, bearing more resemblance to real warfare than anything which could take place on land. The most of what has taken place has, on the contrary, merely illustrated an eager desire on the part of each fleet to get away from the other. Many places were, however, taken after heavy bombardment. Edinburgh, among the rest, was held to a ransom of £1,500,000 on pain of being reduced to ashes! The most of the magistrates were away in the country holiday making at the "important crisis in their country's history," and it was difficult for the officer dispatched with the official notice of ransom or bombardment to find any one on whom to serve the formidable missive!

Every country which has established a divorce court has found that the demands for divorce increase enormously. The case of the United States is enormous, when over 25,000 divorces are granted in one year. England in a lesser degree has had a similar experience, and now French statistics prove the same thing of that country. In France up to the passing of the divorce law in 1884, the number of judicial separations annually had been under 3000. In 1884 there were 1657 divorces, 1549 of them preceded by judicial separation; in 1885, 4123 divorces, 2163 preceded by separation; in 1886, 4007 divorces, 1300 of them after separation, and in 1887, 5797 divorces, 1112 after separation. The French statistics throw interesting light on the length of time which elapses before the marriage tie is sought to be broken. Three per cent. of the divorces take place within a year of marriage, 20 per cent. within five years after marriage, 36 per cent. between five and ten years, 28 per cent. between ten and twenty years, and 13 per cent. after more than twenty years.

DR. GRANT'S SERMON.

To THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR,—In the columns of your weekly edition of September 13th appears a criticism by "A. Fiddle, D. D." on the orthodoxy of Principal Grant's sermon delivered in your city. I can not lay claim to any of the various titles bestowed upon men, by schools or factions, in this or any other land, for profound thought, or extraordinary development in powers of knowledge; yet I am thankful to be permitted to live in an age when it is allowed to all men or women to express their thoughts in words, and bring them before the public in a larger measure than was possible some fifty years ago. I did not have the opportunity to hear, nor even read the sermon of Principal Grant, before I penned this letter; I do not even know to what school of theologians the reverend gentleman belongs; but if I had been fortunate enough to listen to his delivery of the same, as "A. Fiddle, D. D," my criticism would have turned out to be a happy concurrence with the clear, lucid truth expressed by the Reverend Dr.; for the points especially criticised by your correspondent, they are to me, the very life of a true Christine. I am extremely happy to hear that there are such men as Dr. Grant, even at our day, capable and determined to spread a truth so simple and yet so transcendingly glorious, filling the hearts of the simple, yet wise, of our day with the light of the highest intelligence, because their will is prepared there to choose the good, for the use of it leaving the issues thereof to Him who said, "If you love me, do my commandments; for they are not grievous;" and again, "everyone shall be rewarded according to the deeds done in the body, whether they be good or evil."

Not wishing to make my letter unnecessarily long, I will just touch upon "A. Fiddle's" objection to "teaching the heathen Japs and Chinese to do good, instead of belief in Christ the Lord, as the only means of salvation." Why, sir, it is almost incredible to think that we have in our midst a D-D. who seems so benighted as not to see that it is just the very reason that the millions of heathen nations won't accept our theologies, as preached to them by "I believe the most of our missionaries," because it is even to a heathen mind unworthy of consideration on account of its sterility and impotency of life, bringing strife hatreds, envy, malice and tyranny amongst those who are the loudest in their profession of logical Christianity. True Christian religion as taught from the word, "which I conceive to be the ultimetion of divine truth" accommodated to the intelligence of the simplest mind on earth, is first to hate evil in ourself, and then learn to do good and not, and that is, as far as I can gather from "A. Fiddle's" letter, what Dr. Grant seems to have been guilty of giving prominence in his sermon in Victoria. So long as Principal Grant will continue in preaching such a gospel and live accordingly, so far will he prepare himself to become a receptiole of divine love and truth, which "divine love and truth is a fountain whence flow all good deeds done anywhere" to enter into and through the willing hearts of men to others; finding a sure resting place for the Lord to dwell, preparing the reviewer to forget all about merit of himself nor claiming the merits of any one else to be covered with.

I am sorry to say that "A. Fiddle's" theology has been permitted for so long a time to ensnare the unweary, causing all the abomination of which we as a nation are guilty of, to so rapidly spread and increase in our midst, hiding the true light of the Gospel of Christ, "who being the Lord God the Creator, Redemer and Regenerator, all in one," coming down into time, so that we can have a personal God; one "We can know how to worship." "One who did not come to be worshipped for his own good pleasure, but who delighted to do good deeds to man everywhere." Let us follow him! "All religion is of life, and the life of religion is to do good." GEO. POLLAY.

WHISPERS OF THE WIRES.

The Doings of the World Condensed into Short Notes.

The British consul at Nisch, Mr. McDonald, and a party of friends were captured by brigands a few days ago, but were released in a short time.

M. Corvillain, proprietor of the cart ridge factory, the explosion of which caused such a frightful series of disasters in Antwerp has been arrested.

Arrangements have been made for a fight between Jem Smith and Slavin, the Australian champion, for $20,000. Smith will also fight Jackson, the negro, ten rounds for $10,000.

The Reichsan Zeiger publishes a decree of the emperor authorizing a loan of ninety million marks, in consequence of an additional army corps for Alsace-Lorraine.

Mr. Edison has gone to Heidelberg for a brief stay. He will return here before the end of the week to exhibit his phonograph to Emperor William and Prince Bismarck.

A steerage passenger named Edward Walsh, on the incoming liner Servia, from New York, committed suicide in mid-ocean last Monday by jumping overboard.

A grand banquet, in honor of Emperor William, was given by the provincial estates last night. Count Von Munster, German Ambassador to France, gave a toast in honor of the royal family. In his speech he said the Emperor could always count on the readiness of Hanover to respond to any call whether for peace or for war.

The workmen of London held a monster demonstration in Hyde Park Sunday afternoon to celebrate the victory of the London dock laborers, in finally securing from the dock directors almost every concession for which they contended during the heroic struggle of the past month. HON. JOHN ROBSON AND THE TEACHERS.

To the Editor of The Times:

Sir,—Are you aware that our premier is responsible for (yes, is he not a party to) the possibility of having false monthly returns sent to the education department? He was notified that Mr. Pope had instructed teachers to put "yes" to question 24 or 25 (or both) even when "yes" was not true. He was also asked to notify teachers that their salary would be paid even though they put true answers to those questions; but so far as I am aware he has not done so. However, in order that the teachers may know that they shall be paid their salary, I may state that I put "no" as answer to those questions in my August report and therein notified Mr. Pope that I would hold him personally responsible if he ventured to retain my salary. I sent the report on Aug. 31st and Mr. Pope, after deliberating until Sept. 10th, forwarded my voucher, and for the whole month of August! Would you not advise the teachers to stand firm and get rid of this tyranny and deceit in their monthly reports, even as they compelled the educational trio to "officially explain" away "daily marks" till only its dry bones are left in the statute books? J. N. Muir.

Wellington, Sept. 17, 1889.

CANADA'S ULTIMATE DESTINY

To the Editor of The Times:

Sir.—In your article on "Wiman for Parliament," your remark, "all good Canadians insist that Canada has a destiny." What that destiny is, from the tone of your article, I infer is ultimate independence. Sir John Macdonald, who, although perhaps a slippery politician, is without doubt a "good Canadian," once publicly stated, that of the two alternatives, annexation or independence, he favored annexation. In so speaking, he evidently preferred a continuance of the present relations between the crown and Canada. A condition of things by which the burden of defence is borne by the taxpayers of the United Kingdom, whilst at the same time Dominion legislation is purely selfish, and concedes no advantage to the Mother Country over foreign nations, is wanting in the elements of permanence. Nations, like individuals, show the most practical common sense when they concern themselves more with the present than the hereafter; still, as you are disposed to speculate as to the future of Canada, I would ask you whether you seriously consider its development so far has been such as to justify the belief that its ultimate independence is possible? Some progress has certainly been made the past decade, not so much, perhaps, in wealth and population as in the debt of the country. With the United States, a nation of 60,000,000, south of it, and adding a greater number every five years to its population than the Dominion of Canada contains, the latter as an independent power could only exist on sufferance. At the present time there are nearly three quarters of a million of "good Canadians" resident in the United States, and the tendency is for a large annual increase of that number. My belief is that there are more "Good Canadians" of the opinion that ultimately Canada will go over bodily to the United States, than there are "Good Canadians" who hold with you that she will become an independent power. Yours truly,

"A Good Canadian."

ABOUT FINGER RINGS.

Something About the Customs of the Past and Present in Their Use.

The famous Dr. John Thomas, bishop of Lincoln in 1753, married three times. On the occasion of his fourth espousal, he put this motto on his posy ring:

If I survive
I'll make them five.

History does not tell us whether the fourth Mrs. Thomas approved the sentiment, nor whether she so much marrying bishop lived to carry it out.

The motto rings of today are patterns of the posy rings of several centuries ago. The inscriptions are, of course, more modern, but the sentiment remains the same. Of late society has gone back to the real old English posy, and the hands of our American belles are being adorned with rings that carry the same mottoes that graced them in King Hal's time.

There used to be a custom in Rome which made the bridegroom send the bride before marriage a ring of iron to show how lasting the union ought to be, and the frugality they were to observe together; but by and by luxury crept in, and the iron ring was exchanged for one of gold, which change doubtless delighted the Roman ladies.

Numerous superstitions are connected with the ring. The English and French ladies of the times of the Crusades slept with their pillows while their lords and lovers were away fighting the infidel. The custom was supposed to produce pleasant dreams of the absent ones, and the rings were believed to be talismans of safety. The Scotch lass who looks through her betrothal ring three times on the night before her marriage is sure to see visions of the happiness in store for her, and the Greek girl who finds a ring will marry before the year is out.

The women of the uncivilized countries adorn their fingers with clumsy rings of bone and metal. Not satisfied with this, they wear rings in their ears and through the nose. Gypsy women are fond of rings, some of which they claim possess magical powers.

Of course there is nothing in the so called invisible rings. We are told that the famous circlet of Gyges rendered the wearer invisible when the stone was turned inward, and that the ring which Otnit, king of Lombardy, received from the queen's mother, always directed the owner the right road to take in traveling. There is a legend that a knight's daughter once found one of these invisible rings on the day before her wedding. Charmed with the beauty of it, she put it on and wore it to the altar. After the ceremony she happened to turn the stone inward, when lo! the prince saw her vanish, as it were, and rushing from the palace he was about to throw himself into the sea, when he was checked by the bride discarding the ring and calling him by name.

The custom of wearing locks of hair or pictures in rings has gone out of style. The poisoned ring is no longer made, for we have got beyond the days of the Borgias and the Medicis. It is generally believed that Hannibal killed himself with poison which he had long carried in a ring made for that purpose, and Demosthenes is said to have worn a poison circlet.

The true romance of the ring is connected with the engagement and wedding fingers. My lady wears the one with anticipation and the other with pride. As long as the world stands the hoop of gold will possess a significance which no other personal ornament can have.—T. C. Harbaugh in Pittsburg Bulletin.

Cultivation of Boys.

There are as a rule plenty of boys on the farm, but, as the Iowa State Register said recently, their cultivation is frequently sadly neglected. They are not cultivated in a way to make them contented and successful farmers. The fathers of the boys on the farms do not sufficiently take them into their confidence, to consult them about all of the farm operations and give them to feel they are partners in all that is done. The father should also, when he sells his hogs, cattle, horses, or any of the crops, sit down with his boys and tell all about the sale, the amount received, and compare the cost and profit of one class of farming over the other. Show them by figures what it costs to raise wheat and corn, as well as what amount of corn and grass each animal eats during his life and what each brought in the market. In this way boys will be cultivated into thinking, intelligent farmers, instead of mere drudges.

Then the boys should be consulted what to do with the money received from the crop that their joint labor has produced. The father can point out to them what debts have to be paid, what the necessities of the family for food and clothing will require, and how the balance shall be invested—whether in buying more land, laying a foundation for improved breeds of stock, and what it shall be. In this way report all of the operations, the same as you would to partners in business. They are partners, and they should be made to feel that they are truly partners in the work, and partners in directing all of the operations of the farm.

Some Dates of Easter Sunday.

Thomas Cunningham, of this place, who is a corresponding member of the Numismatic and Archæological society, of New York, possesses, among his many other "curios," a complete file of Phinney's Almanac from 1808 to 1887, inclusive, the publication of which was stopped in 1887. In looking over them one is struck by the variety of dates on which Easter Sunday occurs, every day in the month of April being represented except the last five. Throughout the file it occurs five times on the 19th and five times on the 16th of April; four times on each the 1st, 2d, 11th and 12th of April, and four times on the 31st of March; three times on the 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th, 8th, 10th, 13th, 14th and 22d of April and the 27th and 28th of March; April 25, 1886, being the latest and March 22, 1818, the earliest dates on which it occurs. Eight dates in March are represented, viz.: 22d, 23d, 25th, 26th, 27th, 28th, 30th and 31st.—Utica Herald.

The Cigarettes.

The ingenuity of the women of London and Paris in inventing new dissipation is without limit. To the morphine habit the devotees of sensationalism have now added the practice of smoking tea cigarettes. Special grades of the finest tea are used, and the effect of the cigarettes is said to be delightful for fully an hour after one has been smoked. After that comes the reaction in the form of a nervous trembling and excitability, but which is subdued, according to a woman of title, who rather goes in for all these things, by a thimbleful of frozen absinthe. Thus by industriously ringing the changes on morphine, tea, cigarettes and absinthe, with a few intrigues, some scandal and a raft of white hot French novels, the woman of society manages to worry through the day. I wonder if the American girl's great success abroad is not due to her naturalness and health.—London Cor. Philadelphia Ledger.

A Snake Vein.

What was known as the Sullivan Falls mine is now only marked by a pile of broken rock; but in the days when men's brains were fired by the glittering prospects of untold wealth it seemed a bonanza and assumed corresponding proportions. Ground was broken there in winter, and the first thing that was struck by the prospectors after going down through the frost was a vein of—snakes! And such snakes! There were tiny infant snakes that had just been ushered into this sinful world; there were hoary headed old grandfathers, and uncles and cousins, and aunts! There were black snakes, and green snakes, and yellow snakes, and every color of the rainbow snakes! There were thousands in the colony. It wasn't a very good paying vein; but some of the Maine gold mines didn't pan out so well as this, even.—Lewiston Journal.

Washington's Jump.

A story is told of Washington making a famous jump for a wife during his youth. "He was riding, so the story goes, along the Potomac above Georgetown, when he came to the house of a large estate, and seeing a crowd on the lawn, he asked the cause of the gathering. He was told that a jumping match was in progress, and the prize was the hand of the farmer's daughter. He looked on for a time at the different jumps, and finally asked if he might not also try his skill. The host consented, and Washington jumped farther than the farthest. As he did so he noted that the countenance of the maiden fell, and that she looked rather woefully at the face of his leading competitor, who had made the next best jump, and who was evidently her lover. He resigned his claim to the lady's hand in his rival's favor, and it is said that this lady afterward recalled the circumstance when she met him at one of his presidential levees."—Cosmopolitan.

Ingenious Mode of Advertising.

The agents for a certain kind of cough candy distribute circulars on which is stated the following puzzle: "What number can you take, and when you divide it by two, three, four, five or six you will have one over, but when divided by seven nothing will remain?" The circular goes on to say that if a person cannot solve the puzzle he should buy a box of the candy, when the agent will hand him the right number on a slip of paper. The methods of advertising are not yet all exhausted.—Scientific American.

That'll Fetch It.

"What's the trouble with you?" asked the doctor. "Insomnia," replied the patient. "Can't sleep, eh?" "Not four hours a night." "Ever tried anything?" "Tried everything, all no good." "Ever try trying to keep awake?" Patient sees hope for himself in an experiment that never was known to fail.—Bob Burdette.

—A party of Victorians have intimated their intention of coming up to New Westminster district in the course of a few days, to enjoy a season's shooting and fishing. And in order to preserve the game around Sumas Lake, until their arrival, they have written to a prominent resident of that locality asking that henceforth the trespass law be strictly enforced on all lands bordering on the lake.—Truth.

—The Colonist of this morning contains a letter on this subject from "An Old Resident" who concludes his remarks by asking if Ald. Goodacre has ever read the following lines:

"Touch not a single bough,
In youth it sheltered me,
And I'll protect it now."

Ald. Goodacre's best, and Ald. Goodacre is of opinion that if they are really the sentiments of the writer of the letter, the words in small capitals in verse consisively prove that "An Old Resident" did considerable "bumming" in his early days under the trees in Beacon Hill Park.

LOST AND FOUND.

The Wild Search That Was Made for a Money Package.

Arthur Englehardt, clerk in the Northern Pacific express office, was in a state of great mental perturbation last night over the supposed loss of a package of money containing $821, in greenbacks. He went down to the steamer North Pacific, with a number of packages, among which was, so he thought, the package containing the money. Arriving at the steamer, his consternation was great when he found that the money package was not among the others. A hasty return and a search over the route which he had followed in going to the steamer, failed to reward him. The police were notified, but they too could not locate the missing money, and the young man went home to ponder over the loss.

This morning Mr. Blackwood discovered the package in his desk in the office, the clerk having overlooked it, and there it had rested in safety during the wild search that was being made for it.

Midnight Prowlers.

Thieves attempted to enter the residence of Mr. S. Phillips, Fort street, about midnight last night. An attempt was made to force open a window, but so much noise was made that the inmates were awakened, and the question "who's there?" frightened the parties away.

Mere Progress.

Workmen commenced to-day to tear down the old rookeries next to the Pritchard House, which have stood since the early sixties. The property belongs to Chief Justice Begbie and is under lease to the Belmont company, who will erect a handsome brick building thereon.

Hop on the Swiftsure.

The hop given on board H. M. S. Swiftsure this afternoon was well attended. The flagship was beautifully decorated with bunting, and to the splendid music of the band dancing on the quarterdeck was entrancing. These afternoon hops are always looked forward to with zest.

Suit Missing.

A waiter employed in the Delmonico restaurant has missed a suit of clothes from his room. A well connected young man of this city is accused by the waiter of knowing something of the affair, and threats are made by the waiter to have a summons issued unless the suit is returned within twenty-four hours.

The Behring Sea Seizures.

A. L. Belyea, barrister, has received a letter from Deputy Minister of Fisheries Tilton, acknowledging the receipt of the resolutions, respecting the Behring sea seizures, passed at the public meeting held in the city on the 21st inst. Mr. Tilton states that the resolutions will be forwarded to Her Majesty's government.

The Port Fairy.

The Oriental liner Port Fairy will go over to Departure Bay to-morrow from Vancouver to take on 1200 tons of coal for fuel. This quantity will suffice for more than a round trip to the Orient. At present the coal in China is of a poor quality, which accounts for the enormous quantity taken by the vessel, which is of splendid quality.

Beacon Hill Park.

The plan for the improvement of Beacon Hill Park, as prepared by Mr. Blair, and, according to which, improvements are now being made, is on exhibition at Campbell's corner. The lovers of nature unadorned, who publish nonsense in the Colonist about vandalism, etc., are invited to inspect the plan and learn something about which they seem to be profoundly ignorant.

The Detention of the Lakme.

The captain of the Lakme was interviewed by a Free Press reporter as to his detention at the port of Nanaimo. He said that he was chartered by Messrs. Turner, Beeton & Co. to load salmon at the Skeena river for Astoria. He claims that the customs officials at New Westminster informed him that he could obtain his clearance papers at Nanaimo, but on arriving there Collector Smith would not do so. Captain Graves states that some one will have to pay for his detention, as he was acting under instructions from the firm which chartered his vessel.

Collector Smith states that he was willing to clear the Lakme for the out port of Port Simpson, situated forty miles above the Skeena river, as Skeena river is not an out port. He considered he had no power to clear a vessel for any place in another jurisdiction except a port or out port, and Skeena river not being either, he declined to clear the steamer accordingly. The Lakme is still here awaiting further orders.

Arrested on Suspicion.

A young man was arrested this morning about eleven o'clock and taken to the city lock-up where he was charged with the larceny of a suit of clothes, the property of Henry Carter, a waiter in the Delmonico restaurant. A few days ago the prisoner entered the restaurant, ordered the best meal the house could produce, and after satisfying his healthy appetite walked off without paying. On Tuesday evening he entered the office of the hotel, went to the board on which the keys of the rooms hang, and selecting one, went up stairs, where he coolly appropriated a room in which he slept during the night. He also forgot to pay for the room in the morning. It is claimed that on arising he went on a foraging expedition, and discovering Carter's new suit of tailor made clothes, he thought they would admirably suit his shape, so he appropriated them. The prisoner says, however, that he did not steal the key of the room, but that permission was given him to sleep in a room up stairs by the night bartender of the Delmonico saloon.

The McFeeley-Cameron Wedding Solemnized This Morning.

At St. Andrew's pro-cathedral, at 8:30 o'clock this morning, the marriage ceremony of Edward J. McFeeley, of the firm of McLennan & McFeeley, Victoria and Vancouver, and Miss Gracie E. Cameron, of this city, was solemnized, the Rev. Father Van Nevel officiating. The church was filled with friends of the contracting parties, and the bride looked radiantly happy attired in white silk en train, with veil and orange blossoms. Mr. Walter S. Chambers gave the bride away and Miss Cecilia Cameron, attired in a dress of coral pink, and Miss Maud Chambers, in Nile green silk, acted the always pleasing part of bridesmaids. The groom was supported by his brother, Fred. McFeeley.

After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was partaken of at the home of the bride's mother, Kane street, attended by the immediate relatives and friends of the principals. The charming bride was the recipient of numerous costly, useful and ornamental gifts from her many friends. Mr. and Mrs. McFeeley will leave in the morning on the Olympian for a honeymoon tour of Washington and Oregon, and on their return in a month will make their home in Vancouver with best wishes from all for future welfare.

The work of the general secretaries conference was concluded last evening. At 7:30 a grand praise meeting was held, and at 8 the anniversary services of the Victoria Y. M. C. A. were held in the Pandora Street Methodist church. After a praise service by the choir under Mr. J. G. Brown's leadership, the first psalm was read by Rev. C. S. Mason, and the Rev. J. E. Starr offered prayers. Mr. C. W. Beers, of Portland, sang a solo, and the Hon. John Robson, president of the Victoria Association, delivered the opening speech. The annual report of the treasurer, Mr. Watterson, and the general secretary, Mr. F. W. Teague, were read and showed a satisfactory advance in the work during the year. Addresses were afterwards delivered by Rev. Messrs. Starr and Mason, Mr. Meyers, Mr. N. H. Jacks and Mr. H. E. Brown. Mrs. McCready, of New Westminster, sang several charming solos during the evening, which were a treat to all present.

BEACON HILL PARK.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

DEAR SIR.—As a citizen of Victoria, and more particularly a resident in the neighborhood of Beacon Hill Park, while like the most of my fellow citizens, I am much interested in the improvements going on there, and fully approve of the laying out of portions in lakes, flower gardens, nice walks, and such like, I am at the same time much surprised to see the wholesale destruction of some of the most beautiful shrubs and trees, which, while their surroundings might be improved never could be replaced by man's hands in such luxuriant beauty. And the carriage road running round the top of the Hill! Surely the council will abandon that folly, and fill it all in again before more injury is done. If not then an injunction of the Supreme Court ought to be applied for to restrain them from going on with what, instead of being a improvement, is absolute ruin to the hill.

ILLUMINATE

The Electric Light is, without doubt, destined to be

The Light of the Immediate Future.

It has proven itself more safe, convenient, cleanly and healthful than any other illuminants.

No ignition from match stumps. No oils to explode.

No gas-pipes to blow up. No smelling of goods.

No asphyxiation.

No vitiation of the air of offices or homes. It is strangely suggestive of recovered sunlight.

The secret of success in Electric Lighting centres in the coal pile.

A dollar saved in fuel is a dollar earned in dividends.

THE BALL ELECTRIC LIGHT AND MANUFACTURING CO.

of Toronto claim for their systems the ability to produce more light per horsepower of energy expended, than can be produced by any other system known. They guarantee their machinery to outlast other machines, while they are also to sell it at fully one-third less. They supply "arc" and "incandescent" apparatus, or both combined, for any required quantity.

Long distance Incandescent Lighting a specialty. Isolated plants for factories, mills, and country stores furnished and set up.

Their 1000-candle power arc lamps a great success.

Prices and all information on application to their general western representative.
